Course Overview

We live an extremely litigious society. Images of law enforcement, military or private security engaged in use of justified force measures is open to interpretation by anyone with a video camera. Hence the liability these professionals face both inside a courtroom and in the court of public opinion is much greater.

Strategic Security Corp. Global Training Center's Defense Against a Knife Course teaches the techniques vital to ensuring the safety of all parties involved including the assailant by bringing the situation under control immediately with minimal effort, while utilizing empty-hand, non-deadly force in accordance with court precedent regarding the use of force guidelines, thus limiting personal liability and that of your employer.

Trainees will be taught controlling techniques meant to stun the assailant and quickly diffuse the situation, both standing and on the ground. With each technique, legal concepts will be covered as they pertain to: use of force, weapons retention, disarming and minimizing injury.

The course is comprised of 100% practical exercises and drills under stress. Each trainee will participate in "hands-on" realistic training scenarios and perform techniques that require falling to the ground at full speed. Instruction is focused on a "no nonsense" approach that can be learned quickly and utilized under stress.

Admission

Courses are restricted to active or retired law enforcement, military personnel, qualified civilian security professionals and students in an accredited academic institution. All courses are hands on and involve academic as well as practical application. Trainees must provide a copy of their official identification. Each trainee must be in good physical health and not possess any medical conditions that would prohibit the trainee from strenuous activity.
